New Leadership, Same Girl Scout Magic: Meet April Williams

Hello everyone! I'm April Williams, and I'm so excited to join the team as your new Program Manager and Camp Mary Elizabeth (CME) Camp Director. This will be my first summer at CME, and I can't wait to meet our girls, families, and volunteers. After more than 20 years in camp and youth development, I'm thrilled to bring my passion for nature, leadership, and joyful camp traditions to such a special community.

In my role, I'll be supporting year-round programming for older girls, building leadership opportunities, and guiding our summer camp operations. I already believe CME is the best-kept secret in Spartanburg, and I'm looking forward to learning its traditions—and helping create new ones together.

I'm so grateful to be here and can't wait for the adventures ahead!

Double the Fun on February 13—Treat Yourself & Code Your Heart Out!

February 13 is packed with two amazing Girl Scout experiences designed to boost confidence, creativity, and STEM skills!

Treat Yo' Self Day at Camp Cathy: 8:00 a.m.–1:00 p.m.

Girls will slow down and shine bright with a feel-good day focused on mind, body, and confidence. From making healthy snacks and stretching with yoga to playing uplifting games and creating art, this joyful experience reminds girls that self-care is powerful. Hosted by Fit Columbia, NAMI, and Tropical Smoothie Café—it's a day of wellness and connection girls won't forget!

Code My Heart with the Dottie Rose Foundation: 12:00-4:30 p.m.

Girls will trade paper cards for digital magic as they design and animate their own Valentine's Day e-cards using real coding tools! In this hands-on workshop, they'll learn animation, sequencing, basic scripting, and digital illustration—and leave with a shareable creation that proves coding is a creative superpower.

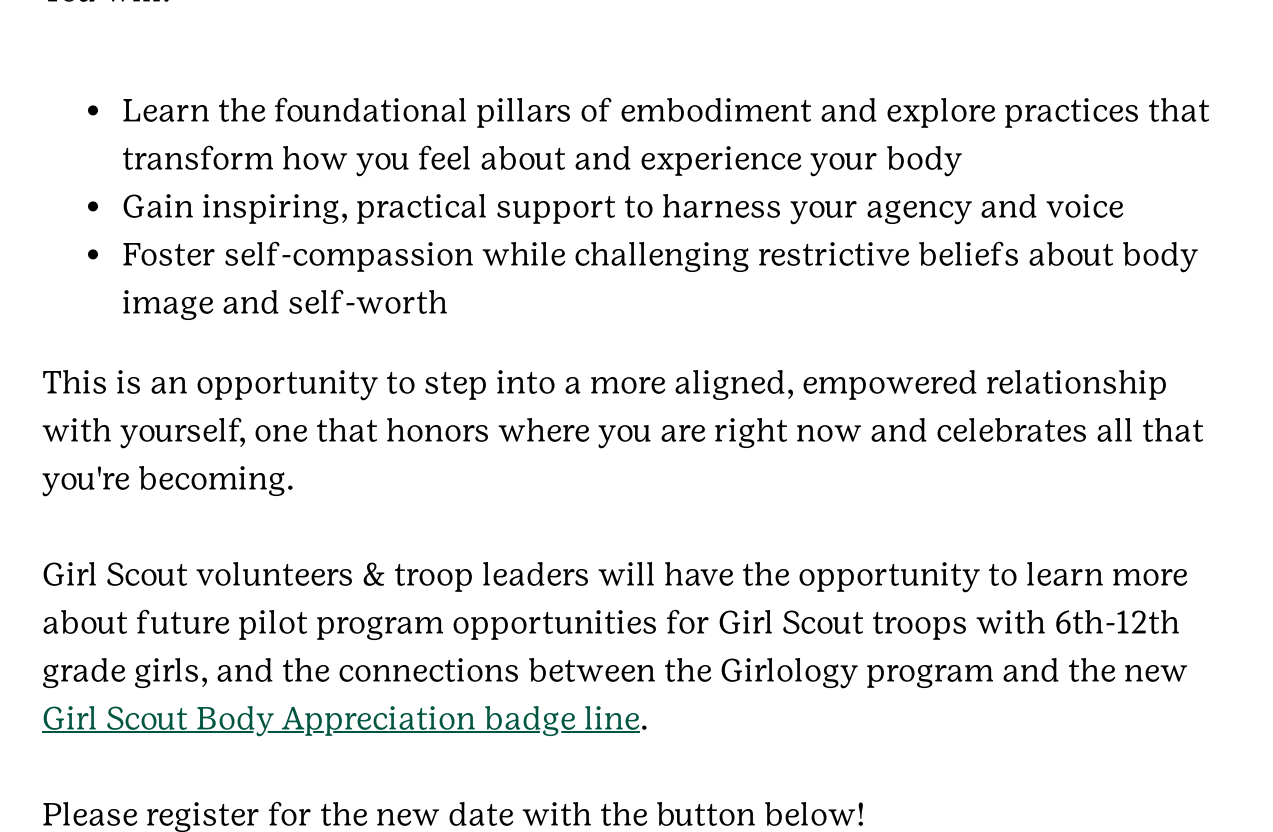

Two incredible programs. One exciting day. Don't miss out on the fun!

RESCHEDULED: Unbothered and Alive Masterclass with Girlology

G I R L • o l o g y ®

Due to the inclement weather in January we rescheduled our event with Girlology to February 22, 2026, at the Cathy Novinger Girl Scout Leadership Center in Columbia, SC.

As women, we've spent decades believing our bodies are problems to fix and our voices are too much. And now we're watching the next generation absorb the same harmful lessons. When adult women (including Girl Scout troop leaders, caregivers, and community members), break the cycle of negative self-talk, we model powerful confidence and self-worth for the next generation of girls.

Unbothered and Alive: Discover the Power of Embodiment will be filled with interactive discussions, guided exercises, and mindfulness practices. We invite all adult women to attend and find a supportive space to reconnect with their body and reclaim their sense of self.

You will:

- Learn the foundational pillars of embodiment and explore practices that transform how you feel about and experience your body
- Gain inspiring, practical support to harness your agency and voice
- Foster self-compassion while challenging restrictive beliefs about body image and self-worth

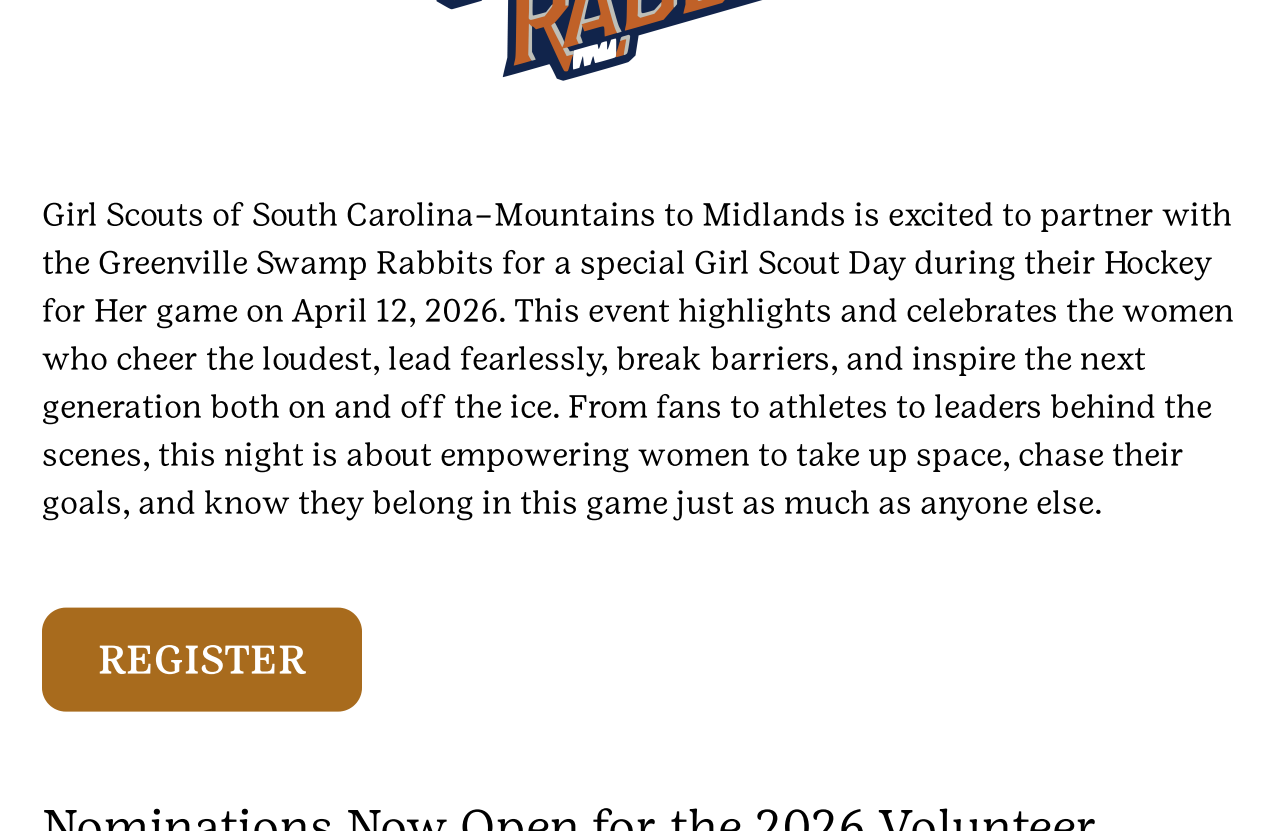

This is an opportunity to step into a more aligned, empowered relationship with yourself, one that honors where you are right now and celebrates all that you're becoming.

Girl Scout volunteers & troop leaders will have the opportunity to learn more about future pilot program opportunities for Girl Scout troops with 6th-12th grade girls, and the connections between the Girlology program and the new Girl Scout Body Appreciation badge line.
